Publishing Highlights

Chicken Soup to Inspire the Body & Soul ® (2003, HCI Press, Canfield, Hansen, Millman, Wentworth, eds.) – includes Lane's essay A Gift of Spirit, the story of how almost losing his left eye showed him the spiritual side of music.

> [Lane's writing has] a special quality of heartfulness. . .a certain empathy that reaches out to readers. ~ Dan Millman, Assoc. Editor of "...Body & Soul" and best-selling author

The Spirit of Servant-Leadership (2011, Paulist Press, Ferch, Spears, editors.) – includes Learning Servant-Leadership from Native America, Again, in which Lane compares the servant-leader and Native American leadership models.

> Lane is an excellent writer and speaker, and a fine example of servant-leadership in action. And I love his music, too! ~ Larry Spears, founder, Spears Center for Servant-Leadership, and world's foremost authority on servant-leadership

Fortuitous Encounters (2012 forthcoming, Paulist Press, Davis, Spears, eds.) – includes a four chapter look at the series of encounters the culminated in Lane meeting and working with Larry Spears, the foremost authority on servant-leadership.

Working in the Community

Foodstock Charities
Serving food – and hope! – to those in need

Founded during Lane's time in Illinois, the original benefit concert became an annual event, and gave birth to a monthly free dinner. Lane continues his work in the Bay Area and Sacramento.

Blues in the Schools
Lane presents to – and often performs with – students at the junior high to university level.

Heal the Children
Continuing a thirty-year tradition, Lane continues to minister to seriously ill children and their families.
